

Globalization and Culture - Complete Lesson

C1 · Ages 16-18 · 75 min · Writing · + Speaking

Overview

Learning objective: Write a balanced argument about cultural exchange, distinguishing wider access from local control and addressing a counterargument.

Main skill: Writing

Secondary skill: Speaking

Duration: 75 minutes

Class size: 20 students

Group work: Groups of 2

Success criteria

- State a clear response that meets the task.
- Use specific details from the supplied material.
- Respond to another view and recognize an appropriate limitation.

Materials needed

-
- Student worksheets A and B with reading and listening questions; teacher answer keys.
 - Supplied case and situation cards; paper and pens.
 - Projector / screen. Included recording and student slides.

Teacher preparation

- Read the two scripts and check the teacher keys before teaching.
- Print one selected worksheet version per learner; keep teacher copies separate.
- Prepare the supplied role cards. No outside article or paid material is needed.
- This fictional case represents no real culture. Do not assign one student the role of spokesperson for an entire nationality or community.

Key language

-
- globalization
 - identity
 - heritage
 - diversity

- integration
- Although wider access may ____, it does not necessarily ____ .
- The relevant distinction is between ____ and ____ .
- A defensible compromise would ____, provided that ____ .

Lesson plan - 75 minutes

6 min - Connect and set the goal

Teacher: Invite an initial view on the case, then state the objective and distinguish the fictional scenario from factual research.

Students: State an initial view and one question you want the case to answer.

Materials: Opening slide or printed opening card

Purpose: Activate prior knowledge without testing unfamiliar language.

10 min - Teach the five key words

Teacher: Model the five terms using their definitions and examples. Ask learners to explain a distinction in their own words.

Students: Complete Section A and compare meanings with a partner.

Materials: Vocabulary cards; worksheet Section A

Purpose: Speaking supports the main writing task.

12 min - Read for meaning

Teacher: Give a first reading for the main situation, followed by the four evidence questions. Clarify only vocabulary essential to meaning.

Students: Read the passage, answer the questions and locate the supporting words.

Materials: Reading passage and four questions, supplied in the worksheet

Purpose: Establish a shared context and check literal understanding before interpretation.

10 min - Listen for a change or decision

Teacher: Play the included recording twice: once for the main situation, then again after learners read the three questions. Use the teacher transcript to resolve disputed evidence.

Students: Identify the main situation, then answer the three detail questions and compare evidence.

Materials: Supplied listening script and questions

Purpose: Practice listening with information that differs from the reading.

13 min - Guided language practice

Teacher: Use Version A Sections B and C. Model one response, then let pairs work. Keep Version B for a later lesson, reassessment or fast finishers. For children, Sections D and E are optional additional practice.

Students: Apply the sentence frames, then respond to the five application prompts.

Materials: Worksheet A; sentence frames; optional worksheet B

Purpose: Move from recognition to usable language.

20 min - Negotiate the festival agreement

Teacher: Arrange groups of 2. Read the supplied role or situation cards and assign roles. Require a choice, supporting reasons and a response to another view. Monitor using the assessment criteria.

Students: Complete the group task, present your decision and respond to one question.

Materials: All situation cards appear under Activities and on the student slides

Purpose: Demonstrate the objective through a purposeful exchange.

4 min - Exit check and next step

Teacher: Use the three exit prompts. Record which part of the objective needs another model. Explain the short homework; use the separate assessment later if needed.

Students: Give an independent response and identify one point to improve.

Materials: Exit ticket and homework instructions

Purpose: Check individual progress after supported group work.

Classroom activity - Negotiate the festival agreement

Objective: Write a balanced argument about cultural exchange, distinguishing wider access from local control and addressing a counterargument.

Time: 20 minutes

Grouping: Groups of 2

Materials: Performer group: Seek payment and review rights. Some pieces require long storytelling sequences.

Distributor: Offer translation and promotion, but explain the need for clear schedules and manageable costs.

Local committee: Propose selection rules that include established traditions and new collaborations.

Teacher instructions

- Use the exact situation cards below; no additional resource is needed.
- Form groups of 2 and model one short response.

- Allow 15 minutes for preparation and practice; use the remaining time for responses and feedback.
- Score each criterion 0-2: a clear conditional position; accurate evidence; a meaningful counterargument; a feasible recommendation. 6/8 indicates the task is substantially met. These are task rubrics, not formal CEFR certification.

Student instructions

- Performer group: Seek payment and review rights. Some pieces require long storytelling sequences.
- Distributor: Offer translation and promotion, but explain the need for clear schedules and manageable costs.
- Local committee: Propose selection rules that include established traditions and new collaborations.

Example: We support the partnership provided performers can review descriptions and local representatives share selection authority. This may slow publication, so we propose one scheduled review round rather than unlimited revisions.

Variation: Exchange recommendations with another group and write one constructive challenge.

Homework

Continue the learning

Use the lesson materials. No additional purchase or research is required.

- Write a 220-260-word argument about the proposed agreement.
- Use two case details, a concession, a counterargument and a conditional recommendation.

Estimated time: 20 minutes

Exit ticket - 4 min

-
- State a qualified thesis supporting or opposing the proposal.
 - Respond without dismissing that counterargument.
 - Name one point you would improve in your response.

Success looks like: Score each criterion 0-2: a clear conditional position; accurate evidence; a meaningful counterargument; a feasible recommendation. 6/8 indicates the task is substantially met. These are task rubrics, not formal CEFR certification.

Teacher notes

-
- Score each criterion 0-2: a clear conditional position; accurate evidence; a meaningful counterargument; a feasible recommendation. 6/8 indicates the task is substantially met. These are task rubrics, not formal CEFR certification.
 - Reading and listening tell different stories. Keep their keys separate.

- Student slides include tasks and language models. Facilitation notes and transcript answers belong in the separate teacher documents.

Student worksheet - Version A

Name: _____ Class: _____ Date: _____

Complete the sections your teacher assigns. Use the reading and the supplied case details. Version B is an alternative for later practice.

Section A - Meet the key words

Match each definition to a word from the bank.

Word bank

globalization | identity | heritage | diversity | integration

1. Increasing connections between places and societies.

2. A sense of who a person or community is.

3. Traditions and practices passed between generations.

4. The presence of different experiences and forms of expression.

5. Participation in a shared setting while negotiating differences.

Reading - Who Shapes the Festival?

Read the passage and answer the questions.

The town and festival in this case are fictional. Luma's annual music festival once served mainly local residents. A partnership with an international distributor would now let performers reach listeners abroad. The distributor offers translation, promotion and payment for selected recordings. For some musicians, this is an opportunity to earn money while continuing work that local ticket sales cannot support.

The offer also has conditions. The distributor wants shorter performances, familiar genre labels and a program that can be promoted consistently across different markets. These requirements are not an explicit ban on local traditions. Nevertheless, they may favor pieces that are easier for unfamiliar listeners to recognize. Musicians whose work depends on long storytelling sequences worry that selection would reward only a narrow part of their heritage.

The youth council sees another possibility. Members already combine influences from different places, and they object to treating culture as a fixed collection of old practices. They want new collaborations to count as part of local identity. Some elders agree, while asking who will have the authority to approve how a performance is described. The disagreement is therefore not simply between young innovators and older guardians.

A proposed agreement would reserve some programming decisions for a local committee, publish the selection criteria and give performers a chance to correct translations. It might protect meaningful participation, but it would also add costs and delay. The distributor has not accepted these terms.

The case separates two questions that are often merged: whether cultural work travels more widely, and whether the people who create it retain influence over its presentation. Wider circulation may support diversity, yet circulation alone does not guarantee control. A convincing judgment needs to examine both opportunities and the rules that distribute decision-making power.

1. What concrete benefits does the distributor offer?

2. Why might selection narrow the representation of heritage?

3. Why is the conflict not simply young versus old?

4. What distinction structures the final paragraph?

Section B - Language in use

Respond using language that fits the situation.

1. Qualify: Globalization destroys local culture.

2. Distinguish heritage from a fixed rule against change.

3. Write a concession about the distributor's contribution.

4. Identify an unsupported inference: Short formats are requested, so long pieces are banned.

5. Explain integration without equating it with sameness.

Section C - Apply and explain

Give a reason, an example or a case detail when the prompt asks for one.

1. State a qualified thesis supporting or opposing the proposal.

2. Use one case detail to support your thesis.

3. Present a serious counterargument.

4. Respond without dismissing that counterargument.

5. Conclude with a condition that would change your view.

Listening - A Curator's Conditional Support

Listen for meaning, then answer the questions.

1. What is the curator's position?

- a) Conditional support
- b) Complete rejection
- c) Unconditional approval

2. What risk does visibility alone leave unresolved?

- a) A narrow representation without local influence
- b) No recordings can travel
- c) All musicians must stop working

3. Which measure would supplement audience size?

- a) Who made decisions
- b) Only ticket prices
- c) The shortest performance

Student worksheet - Version B

Name: _____ Class: _____ Date: _____

Complete the sections your teacher assigns. Use the reading and the supplied case details. Version B is an alternative for later practice.

Section A - Use the key words

Write a sentence that shows each word's meaning.

Word bank

globalization | identity | heritage | diversity | integration

1. Use "globalization" in a sentence about this lesson.

2. Use "identity" in a sentence about this lesson.

3. Use "heritage" in a sentence about this lesson.

4. Use "diversity" in a sentence about this lesson.

5. Use "integration" in a sentence about this lesson.

Reading - Who Shapes the Festival?

Read the passage and answer the questions.

The town and festival in this case are fictional. Luma's annual music festival once served mainly local residents. A partnership with an international distributor would now let performers reach listeners abroad. The distributor offers translation, promotion and payment for selected recordings. For some musicians, this is an opportunity to earn money while continuing work that local ticket sales cannot support.

The offer also has conditions. The distributor wants shorter performances, familiar genre labels and a program that can be promoted consistently across different markets. These requirements are not an explicit ban on local traditions. Nevertheless, they may favor pieces that are easier for unfamiliar listeners to recognize. Musicians whose work depends on long storytelling sequences worry that selection would reward only a narrow part of their heritage.

The youth council sees another possibility. Members already combine influences from different places, and they object to treating culture as a fixed collection of old practices. They want new collaborations to count as part of local identity. Some elders agree, while asking who will have the authority to approve how a performance is described. The disagreement is therefore not simply between young innovators and older guardians.

A proposed agreement would reserve some programming decisions for a local committee, publish the selection criteria and give performers a chance to correct translations. It might protect meaningful participation, but it would also add costs and delay. The distributor has not accepted these terms.

The case separates two questions that are often merged: whether cultural work travels more widely, and whether the people who create it retain influence over its presentation. Wider circulation may support diversity, yet circulation alone does not guarantee control. A convincing judgment needs to examine both opportunities and the rules that distribute decision-making power.

1. What concrete benefits does the distributor offer?

2. Why might selection narrow the representation of heritage?

3. Why is the conflict not simply young versus old?

4. What distinction structures the final paragraph?

Section B - Language in use

Respond using language that fits the situation.

1. Qualify: International audiences always increase diversity.

2. Distinguish access from authority in one sentence.

3. Write a concession about shared selection costs.

4. Challenge: All elders reject new collaborations.

5. Define a fair review criterion beyond audience size.

Section C - Apply and explain

Give a reason, an example or a case detail when the prompt asks for one.

1. Argue for one local decision that should be protected.

2. Explain one benefit for a musician rather than the town generally.

3. Critique the assumption that authentic culture cannot change.

4. Propose a way to evaluate representation.

5. Write a nuanced final recommendation in two sentences.

Listening - A Curator's Conditional Support

Listen for meaning, then answer the questions.

1. What is the curator's position?

- a) Conditional support
- b) Complete rejection
- c) Unconditional approval

2. What risk does visibility alone leave unresolved?

- a) A narrow representation without local influence
- b) No recordings can travel
- c) All musicians must stop working

3. Which measure would supplement audience size?

- a) Who made decisions
- b) Only ticket prices
- c) The shortest performance

Teacher answer key

How to run the worksheet

Write a balanced argument about cultural exchange, distinguishing wider access from local control and addressing a counterargument.

Score each criterion 0-2: a clear conditional position; accurate evidence; a meaningful counterargument; a feasible recommendation. 6/8 indicates the task is substantially met. These are task rubrics, not formal CEFR certification.

Group work guidance

Groups of 2; give everyone a speaking or checking role and rotate. Use Version B as alternate practice, not as a second full worksheet in the same session.

Answers - Version A

Section A - Meet the key words

1. Increasing connections between places and societies. -> globalization
2. A sense of who a person or community is. -> identity
3. Traditions and practices passed between generations. -> heritage
4. The presence of different experiences and forms of expression. -> diversity
5. Participation in a shared setting while negotiating differences. -> integration

Teaching point: Check meaning before form.

Common errors: Answering a different question or giving a claim without the requested detail.

Corrections: Return to the exact prompt. Accept accurate equivalent wording for open responses.

Notes: Answers are in item order. Model responses are examples, not the only acceptable wording.

Reading - Who Shapes the Festival?

1. What concrete benefits does the distributor offer? -> Translation, promotion and payment for selected recordings.
2. Why might selection narrow the representation of heritage? -> Market-friendly formats may favor easily recognized pieces.
3. Why is the conflict not simply young versus old? -> Some elders support collaboration while questioning decision-making authority.
4. What distinction structures the final paragraph? -> Wider circulation versus creators' influence over presentation.

Teaching point: Use the passage, not outside knowledge.

Model answers: 1. Evidence: The distributor offers translation, promotion and payment for selected recordings. | 2. Evidence: they may favor pieces that are easier for unfamiliar listeners to recognize | 3. Evidence: Some elders agree, while asking who will have the authority to approve how a performance is described. | 4. Evidence: whether cultural work travels more widely, and whether the people who create it retain influence over its presentation

Common errors: Answering a different question or giving a claim without the requested detail.

Corrections: Return to the exact prompt. Accept accurate equivalent wording for open responses.

Notes: Answers are in item order. Model responses are examples, not the only acceptable wording.

Section B - Language in use

1. Qualify: Globalization destroys local culture. -> Globalization may weaken some local practices under particular commercial conditions.
2. Distinguish heritage from a fixed rule against change. -> Heritage can inform new work without requiring every practice to remain unchanged.
3. Write a concession about the distributor's contribution. -> Although the distributor offers valuable promotion, performers still need a voice in representation.
4. Identify an unsupported inference: Short formats are requested, so long pieces are banned. -> A preference for short formats may disadvantage long pieces, but a ban is not stated.
5. Explain integration without equating it with sameness. -> People can participate in shared institutions while retaining different traditions.

Teaching point: Writing practice with speaking support.

Common errors: Answering a different question or giving a claim without the requested detail.

Corrections: Return to the exact prompt. Accept accurate equivalent wording for open responses.

Notes: Answers are in item order. Model responses are examples, not the only acceptable wording.

Section C - Apply and explain

1. State a qualified thesis supporting or opposing the proposal. -> Accept a clear position with specified conditions rather than an absolute claim.
2. Use one case detail to support your thesis. -> Link translation, payment, selection rules or review rights directly to the argument.
3. Present a serious counterargument. -> Shared selection can delay work and increase costs.
4. Respond without dismissing that counterargument. -> Propose a deadline and a funded local review role.
5. Conclude with a condition that would change your view. -> For example, withdrawal of performer review rights would justify rejecting the agreement.

Teaching point: Writing practice with speaking support.

Common errors: Answering a different question or giving a claim without the requested detail.

Corrections: Return to the exact prompt. Accept accurate equivalent wording for open responses.

Notes: Answers are in item order. Model responses are examples, not the only acceptable wording.

Listening - A Curator's Conditional Support

1. What is the curator's position? -> Conditional support
2. What risk does visibility alone leave unresolved? -> A narrow representation without local influence
3. Which measure would supplement audience size? -> Who made decisions

Teaching point: Read or listen twice. Answers refer only to this script.

Common errors: Answering a different question or giving a claim without the requested detail.

Corrections: Return to the exact prompt. Accept accurate equivalent wording for open responses.

Notes: Teacher transcript:

I support the proposed festival partnership, but my support is conditional. Reaching listeners abroad could help musicians continue their work, and translation could make unfamiliar traditions more accessible. It would be a mistake to assume that every commercial partnership necessarily destroys local culture.

However, access is only one part of the question. If an outside organization chooses every performance and writes every description, the community may become visible without gaining much influence. A recording can travel widely while presenting a very narrow picture of the people who made it.

My suggestion is a shared selection process. Local performers should help define the criteria, and they should be able to review translations before publication. I would also reserve space for collaborations that do not fit a familiar genre label. Cultural identity is not a museum shelf; new work can belong to it as well.

These conditions would take time and money. We should acknowledge that cost instead of pretending that participation is free. Still, a cheaper agreement that creates lasting resentment might be poor value. I would judge the partnership after one season by asking who participated, who made decisions, and whether performers felt accurately represented. Audience size would matter, but it would not be the only measure of success.

Read the questions aloud for young learners. Replay or reread in short sections if needed.

Answers - Version B

Section A - Use the key words

1. Use "globalization" in a sentence about this lesson. -> Globalization can widen an artist's audience.
2. Use "identity" in a sentence about this lesson. -> Identity can change without disappearing.
3. Use "heritage" in a sentence about this lesson. -> The festival celebrates local heritage.

4. Use "diversity" in a sentence about this lesson. -> A diverse program includes more than one viewpoint.

5. Use "integration" in a sentence about this lesson. -> Integration need not require identical tastes.

Teaching point: Check meaning before form.

Common errors: Answering a different question or giving a claim without the requested detail.

Corrections: Return to the exact prompt. Accept accurate equivalent wording for open responses.

Notes: Answers are in item order. Model responses are examples, not the only acceptable wording.

Reading - Who Shapes the Festival?

1. What concrete benefits does the distributor offer? -> Translation, promotion and payment for selected recordings.

2. Why might selection narrow the representation of heritage? -> Market-friendly formats may favor easily recognized pieces.

3. Why is the conflict not simply young versus old? -> Some elders support collaboration while questioning decision-making authority.

4. What distinction structures the final paragraph? -> Wider circulation versus creators' influence over presentation.

Teaching point: Use the passage, not outside knowledge.

Model answers: 1. Evidence: The distributor offers translation, promotion and payment for selected recordings. | 2. Evidence: they may favor pieces that are easier for unfamiliar listeners to recognize | 3. Evidence: Some elders agree, while asking who will have the authority to approve how a performance is described. | 4. Evidence: whether cultural work travels more widely, and whether the people who create it retain influence over its presentation

Common errors: Answering a different question or giving a claim without the requested detail.

Corrections: Return to the exact prompt. Accept accurate equivalent wording for open responses.

Notes: Answers are in item order. Model responses are examples, not the only acceptable wording.

Section B - Language in use

1. Qualify: International audiences always increase diversity. -> International audiences may increase exposure, but selection can still concentrate attention on familiar styles.

2. Distinguish access from authority in one sentence. -> Access concerns reaching an audience; authority concerns who decides how the work is presented.

3. Write a concession about shared selection costs. -> Shared selection takes resources, yet it may improve legitimacy.

4. Challenge: All elders reject new collaborations. -> The case explicitly says that some elders agree with collaboration.

5. Define a fair review criterion beyond audience size. -> Performers should be able to judge whether descriptions represent their work accurately.

Teaching point: Writing practice with speaking support.

Common errors: Answering a different question or giving a claim without the requested detail.

Corrections: Return to the exact prompt. Accept accurate equivalent wording for open responses.

Notes: Answers are in item order. Model responses are examples, not the only acceptable wording.

Section C - Apply and explain

1. Argue for one local decision that should be protected. -> Example: Approval of performance descriptions should involve the performers.
2. Explain one benefit for a musician rather than the town generally. -> Payment could support continuing work that local ticket sales do not fund.
3. Critique the assumption that authentic culture cannot change. -> The youth council's collaborations illustrate cultural change from within.
4. Propose a way to evaluate representation. -> Invite participating and excluded performers to review selection and descriptions.
5. Write a nuanced final recommendation in two sentences. -> Balance opportunity and control; include a feasible condition and acknowledge cost.

Teaching point: Writing practice with speaking support.

Common errors: Answering a different question or giving a claim without the requested detail.

Corrections: Return to the exact prompt. Accept accurate equivalent wording for open responses.

Notes: Answers are in item order. Model responses are examples, not the only acceptable wording.

Listening - A Curator's Conditional Support

1. What is the curator's position? -> Conditional support
2. What risk does visibility alone leave unresolved? -> A narrow representation without local influence
3. Which measure would supplement audience size? -> Who made decisions

Teaching point: Read or listen twice. Answers refer only to this script.

Common errors: Answering a different question or giving a claim without the requested detail.

Corrections: Return to the exact prompt. Accept accurate equivalent wording for open responses.

Notes: Teacher transcript:

I support the proposed festival partnership, but my support is conditional. Reaching listeners abroad could help musicians continue their work, and translation could make unfamiliar traditions more accessible. It would be a mistake to assume that every commercial partnership necessarily destroys local culture.

However, access is only one part of the question. If an outside organization chooses every performance and writes every description, the community may become visible without gaining much influence. A recording can travel widely while presenting a very narrow picture of the people who made it.

My suggestion is a shared selection process. Local performers should help define the criteria, and they should be able to review translations before publication. I would also reserve space for collaborations that do not fit a familiar genre label. Cultural identity is not a museum shelf; new work can belong to it as well.

These conditions would take time and money. We should acknowledge that cost instead of pretending that participation is free. Still, a cheaper agreement that creates lasting resentment might be poor value. I would judge the partnership after one season by asking who participated, who made decisions, and whether performers felt accurately represented. Audience size would matter, but it would not be the only measure of success.

Read the questions aloud for young learners. Replay or reread in short sections if needed.

Assessment answers

1. State a qualified thesis supporting or opposing the proposal.

Answer: Accept a clear position with specified conditions rather than an absolute claim.

2. Use one case detail to support your thesis.

Answer: Link translation, payment, selection rules or review rights directly to the argument.

3. Present a serious counterargument.

Answer: Shared selection can delay work and increase costs.

4. Respond without dismissing that counterargument.

Answer: Propose a deadline and a funded local review role.

5. Conclude with a condition that would change your view.

Answer: For example, withdrawal of performer review rights would justify rejecting the agreement.

Assessment guidance

Score each criterion 0-2: a clear conditional position; accurate evidence; a meaningful counterargument; a feasible recommendation. 6/8 indicates the task is substantially met. These are task rubrics, not formal CEFR certification.

Support

Reduce the number of ideas to compare while keeping the same reasoning goal.

Sentence frames

- Although wider access may ____, it does not necessarily ____ .
- The relevant distinction is between ____ and ____ .
- A defensible compromise would ____, provided that ____ .

Word bank

- globalization
- identity
- heritage
- diversity
- integration

Worked examples

- We support the partnership provided performers can review descriptions and local representatives share selection authority. This may slow publication, so we propose one scheduled review round rather than unlimited revisions.

Smaller steps

- State the situation in one sentence.
- Select one relevant detail.
- Use a frame to explain the response.
- Add a limitation or another view.

Guided practice

- Qualify: Globalization destroys local culture. Model: Globalization may weaken some local practices under particular commercial conditions.
- State a qualified thesis supporting or opposing the proposal. Model: Accept a clear position with specified conditions rather than an absolute claim.

Challenge

Extend the same objective with less scaffolding and more independent explanation.

- Explain why a policy that increases visibility might still reduce meaningful diversity.
- Write a counterargument that would persuade someone who shares your values.
- Which assumption does your response depend on?
- What evidence or constraint would change your choice?

Pacing: the package includes more practice than one class needs.

Teach the selected Version A tasks and keep Version B, extension work and the independent assessment for follow-up.

Sensitive or misleading assumptions.

This fictional case represents no real culture. Do not assign one student the role of spokesperson for an entire nationality or community.

Presentation - teaching notes

Teacher copy. Keep this guide separate from the student PowerPoint. Slide numbers below refer to the numbered lesson slides; an exported slide may continue over several pages.

1. Globalization and Culture

Distinguish access from control and write a qualified argument about cultural exchange.

Task: What do you already know about this topic?

Teacher note: Allow thinking time, then invite a response. Accept equivalent language that meets the objective.

Purpose: Build toward the stated learning objective.

2. Today's goal

Write a balanced argument about cultural exchange, distinguishing wider access from local control and addressing a counterargument.

Task: Explain the goal in your own words.

Teacher note: Allow thinking time, then invite a response. Accept equivalent language that meets the objective.

Purpose: Build toward the stated learning objective.

3. Look and discuss

How might online sharing affect this festival?

Discuss an opportunity and a risk for the artists.

Teacher note: Use this picture during the opening discussion. Accept different accurate responses. This is an illustrative scene, not evidence about real people or a substitute for the reading passage.

Purpose: Build toward the stated learning objective.

Visual guidance: Musicians perform at a community festival while organizers share the performance online.

4. globalization

globalization: Increasing connections between places and societies.

Globalization can widen an artist's audience.

Task: Use the word in a new example.

Teacher note: Model "globalization" with the supplied example. Check that learners distinguish the definition from an example.

Purpose: Build toward the stated learning objective.

5. identity

identity: A sense of who a person or community is.

Identity can change without disappearing.

Task: Use the word in a new example.

Teacher note: Model "identity" with the supplied example. Check that learners distinguish the definition from an example.

Purpose: Build toward the stated learning objective.

6. heritage

heritage: Traditions and practices passed between generations.

The festival celebrates local heritage.

Task: Use the word in a new example.

Teacher note: Model "heritage" with the supplied example. Check that learners distinguish the definition from an example.

Purpose: Build toward the stated learning objective.

7. diversity

diversity: The presence of different experiences and forms of expression.

A diverse program includes more than one viewpoint.

Task: Use the word in a new example.

Teacher note: Model "diversity" with the supplied example. Check that learners distinguish the definition from an example.

Purpose: Build toward the stated learning objective.

8. integration

integration: Participation in a shared setting while negotiating differences.

Integration need not require identical tastes.

Task: Use the word in a new example.

Teacher note: Model "integration" with the supplied example. Check that learners distinguish the definition from an example.

Purpose: Build toward the stated learning objective.

9. Read and notice

Who Shapes the Festival?

Task: What concrete benefits does the distributor offer?

Teacher note: Use the full reading printed in both worksheet versions. Check the four reading questions against the separate teacher key.

Purpose: Build toward the stated learning objective.

10. Listen for details

A Curator's Conditional Support

Task: Listen once for the situation, then again for details.

Teacher note: Use the supplied recording or read the exact script in the separate listening teacher copy. Do not display the transcript during the listening check.

Purpose: Build toward the stated learning objective.

11. Useful language

- Although wider access may ____, it does not necessarily ____ .
- The relevant distinction is between ____ and ____ .
- A defensible compromise would ____, provided that ____ .

Task: Adapt one frame to the situation.

Teacher note: These are language models, not answers to the reading or listening questions.

Purpose: Build toward the stated learning objective.

12. Negotiate the festival agreement · 1

Performer group: Seek payment and review rights. Some pieces require long storytelling sequences.

Task: Discuss your choice and explain your reason.

Teacher note: Use in the group activity. This fictional case represents no real culture. Do not assign one student the role of spokesperson for an entire nationality or community.

Purpose: Build toward the stated learning objective.

13. Negotiate the festival agreement · 2

Distributor: Offer translation and promotion, but explain the need for clear schedules and manageable costs.

Task: Discuss your choice and explain your reason.

Teacher note: Use in the group activity. This fictional case represents no real culture. Do not assign one student the role of spokesperson for an entire nationality or community.

Purpose: Build toward the stated learning objective.

14. Negotiate the festival agreement · 3

Local committee: Propose selection rules that include established traditions and new collaborations.

Task: Discuss your choice and explain your reason.

Teacher note: Use in the group activity. This fictional case represents no real culture. Do not assign one student the role of spokesperson for an entire nationality or community.

Purpose: Build toward the stated learning objective.

15. Your final response

State your choice. Give evidence. Recognize a limitation.

Task: What would make you change your response?

Teacher note: Allow thinking time, then invite a response. Accept equivalent language that meets the objective.

Purpose: Build toward the stated learning objective.